Wise Women Gathering Place is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, staffed by Native American midwives and educators. WWGP incorporated in 1998, however, we have been operating for decades as a home-based women's circle. With children in tow, women gathered around the kitchen table to discuss issues around childbirth, midwifery, breastfeeding, parenting, and more. Today, WWGP provides a safe place for people to access resources and information about childbirth, alternative holistic health methods and other family life challenges. These resources allow members to research, understand and manage their own healthcare. Informed choice is a cornerstone for WWGP in all aspects.
